Student Union

Charles Lee
Director

The new student union is under the direction of Mr. Charles O. Lee and the Student Union committee of the S. G. A.

A board room for meetings and much needed working space is now available for the S. G. A., Newspaper and Annual staff. A large and comfortable T. V. lounge, game and card area are at the students disposal. Food vending machines have replaced the old snack bar. Many activities can now be held on campus, such as dances, plays, exhibits, and free movies.

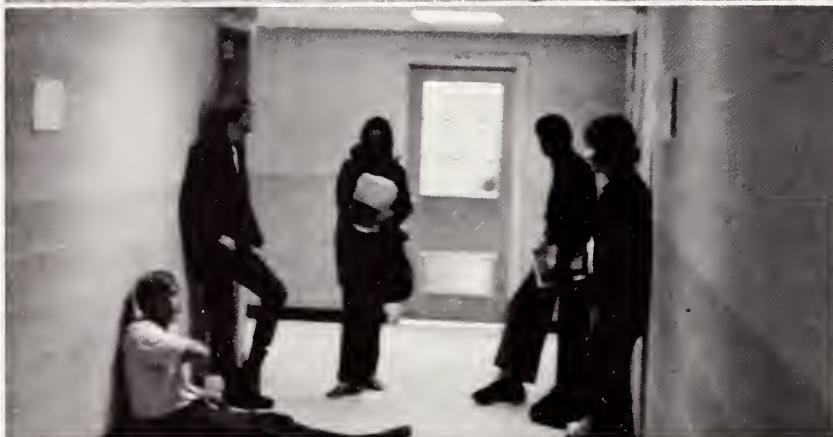

Above is the old snack bar in "A" building. Below the new Student Union, which was completed in January. Students rejoice, "We now have a place to sit down!"

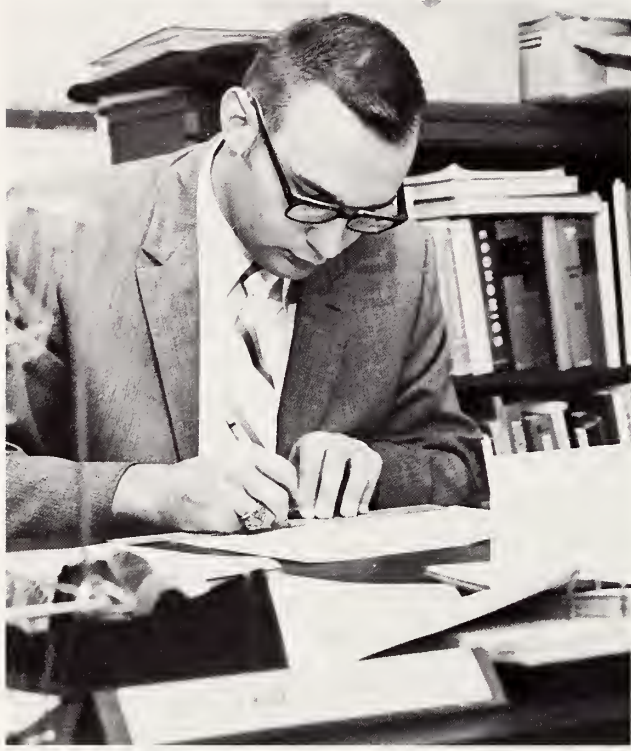

A look at the everyday life and happenings of the campus of Wayne Community College. The following pictures feature only captured events of an eventful year and provide wonderful memories for the years to come.

Office of the Registrar

Confused? Schedule messed up? What's being taught next quarter and where to get those grand old drop add slips? The Registrar's office is the place to come, these people are busy morning, noon and night, but they manage to keep going even through registration week. But one last plea! "Do not drop any classes you're not taking!" Please!!!

Learning Resource

Mildred Councilill
Director
Learning Resource Center

The Learning Resource Center

The Learning Resource Center at Wayne Community College, which includes the traditional library, the media or audio-visual, the graphics and the directed studies areas, is a place of varied activities. Not only will you find books, periodicals and newspapers being used, but you will see students listening to professors' lectures on tapes or cassettes at individual study carrels, using filmstrips with a recording explaining how to write a term paper, working with programmed materials in many subject areas, and using microfilm readers which will also print any article they need.

A reclassification project was made possible, with federal funds, to reclassify the book collection by the Library of Congress System, and at present the reclassification team is working on non book and programmed materials.

The administration, staff, faculty, and students are working diligently to bring the book collection up to 20,000 volumes, which is the minimum requirement for an accredited two-year college. To date the number is approaching the 16,000 volume mark.

Sound on slide projectors are being purchased and will be used by several departments for independent study, and since this is a trend in education throughout the country we expect much use will be made of these projectors in the months ahead.

Materials have been added in the Directed Studies for all areas of study, including high school, vocational, technical, college transfer and general interest.

The staff of the Learning Resource Center and the Wayne County Public Library endeavor to evidence a joint effort of service to the community.
